Clifty Creek Power Station weighs closing one ash pond

By PEGGY VLEREBOME
Special to the Courier

The Clifty Creek Power Station is considering moving up the closing of an ash pond where a "statistically significant increase" in a potentially toxic element was detected a year and a half ago.

None of the element, molybdenum, has gotten into the Ohio River, a consulting firm hired by Indiana-Kentucky Electric Corp. wrote in a report submitted earlier this year in September.

What to do about the molybdenum in the groundwater on the power plant site will be the topic of an open house Thursday, Nov. 7. There will be no presentation, but the public can go to the open house and ask questions and learn about options identified by the consultant. The open house will be from 6 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. at Venture Out Business Center, 975 Industrial Drive.

The consultants' report was posted on the website of the Ohio Valley Electric Corp. as required by a federal rule. IKE in Madison is a subsidiary of Piketon, Ohio-based OVEC. It was the first time the presence of molybdenum was publicly revealed, and the filing of the report was not announced.

Attempts to reach Gabe Coriell, OVEC's manager of environmental services, who was listed as the contact in the advertising announcing the open house, were unsuccessful Wednesday because calls could not go through at OVEC's office.

Molybdenum (pronounced muh-lib-duh-nuhm, with emphasis on lib) is an essential trace element for plants, and humans have it in their bodies. But too much of it can be toxic, with liver damage one possible result. In animals, too much molybdenum can deform fetuses, according to online descriptions.

Molybdenum has industrial uses such as to strengthen steel and to manufacture electrodes. It is released into the environment when fossil fuels such as coal are combusted at power plants. Clifty Creek Station burns coal to heat water in boilers to make steam that turns turbines to make electricity.

The pond that might be closed is named Landfill Runoff Collection Pond. There are two other Coal Combustion Residual ponds at the power plant. Molybdenum was found at one

30% more tourism income earned in 2019

Courier staff report

The Jefferson County Tourism Board received a report Tuesday that an important success indicator — receipts from the county's Innkeepers Tax — is showing tourism receipts up about 30% over last year.

The board received the report as part of an overall discussion on a county Innkeepers Tax, which is now being disbursed by the county after years of the money first going to the state and then coming back to the county.

Jefferson County received checks totaling $81,000 from hotels, motels and other guest lodgings in August. That includes $53,000 collected by the county and another $28,500 received from the state for room reservations and payments through websites like Travelocity, Expedia and others as well as Airbnb.

The 5% tax, previously collected by the state and then disbursed to the county, has been collected locally since Aug. 1.

Sarah Prasil, marketing director for VisitMadison, said the check from the state was a bit of a surprise but made sense since a lot of transactions are handled through online bookings. However, she noted that it may be a month or two before the county knows just how much to expect from the state because it is not currently known if that $28,500 represents only August or perhaps funds carried over from other months.

Additionally, since the funds received from the state previously were not broken down, it is for now difficult to compare 2018 receipts to past years other than the numbers indicating the county has collected 30% more in 2019 than last year.

"It's hard to even compare to years past because we have nothing to compare to ...," Prasil said, noting she expects the county to continue to receive a local check and a state check monthly, but the totals could fluctuate based on "multiple external factors" like number of tourists staying in local rooms and when innkeepers and websites make their payments.

"The fact is, these are the numbers at the end of the day. This is how much cash we have and it's a great

Putting a creekbed and fossils onto Main Street sidewalk

Karl Yarling of Yarling Concrete applies a stamp to wet concrete for a new section of sidewalk in front of Fountain Alley BodyCare on Main Street. The stamp is meant to resemble stone on the bottom of a creek bed, said the store's owners, Larry and Sonia Folkner. The new section will extend to the adjoining building to the left of the shop, which the Folkners just bought. Yarling creates the imprint of a fish fossil into the concrete, adding to the creekbed effect. After the the rest of the concrete is laid, it will be antiqued and finished Monday, Larry Folkner said. The city took out the concrete and the store owners are paying for the new. (Courier staff photos by Collin Overton)

Possibly nation's biggest CBD extraction operation

Plant to extract CBD oil from hemp going to Indy suburb

Indiana

WESTFIELD— A $24 million hemp-processing plant that will specialize in extracting CBD oil from Indiana-grown hemp is coming to suburban Indianapolis. BDX-Indiana said its plant will be inside an existing building in Westfield, just north of Indianapolis. The company is a sister company of Indianapolis-based Biodynamic Ventures, which bills itself as Indiana's largest hemp grower. The companies expect the project to become one of the nation's biggest extraction operations for cannabidiol, or CBD oil, and create more than 40 jobs. CBD oil is a compound derived from hemp and marijuana, which many people see as a way to better health. The Indianapolis Business Journal reports BDX-Indiana has partnered with Portland, Oregon-based Zelios, a large-scale extractor, producer, processor and bulk distributor of hemp-derived CBD oil.

Toddler's hit-run death ruled an accident

INDIANAPOLIS — Authorities have identified a toddler who was struck and killed by a car outside a home. The Indianapolis Star reports that the Marion County coroner's office on Tuesday ruled Giselle Hernandez's death an accident. Police had said the 1-year-old girl was in a driveway near the curb when she was hit Sunday evening. The driver didn't stop. No arrests have been made.

Officer fatally shoots man after accident

EVANSVILLE — A man fatally shot by a police officer after a traffic accident was aggressively approaching the officer with a hammer before the shooting occurred, authorities said Tuesday. Vanderburgh County's coroner identified the man killed in Evansville late Monday as Terry W. Chanley, 45, of Wadesville. Evansville Police Capt. Andy Chandler said an officer was asking Chanley questions about the accident on the city's east side and wasn't getting a response when Chanley made a quick movement as if reaching for something. Chanley pointed what the officer believed could be a gun and that is when the officer stepped back, gave orders and fired shots. Investigators later discovered the item he was carrying was a hammer with a black handle, Chandler said. An investigation into Chanley's death is in the preliminary stage and an autopsy is scheduled for Wednesday, coroner Steve Lockyear said.

Medical device facility to bring 450 jobs

WESTFIELD — Health care company Abbott is planning a $37 million medical device production facility. The Indianapolis Star reported Tuesday that 450 jobs are expected to be created at the 120,000-square-foot facility in Westfield's NorthPoint Industrial Park. Construction is to begin later this year, with operations expected to start by the end of 2021. Indiana's Economic Development Corp. has offered Abbott up to $3.5 million in conditional tax credits and up to $1 million in training grants. Westfield is providing a 10-year property tax abatement. Westfield Mayor Andy Cook said the city has "worked hard to attract diverse businesses" and "the addition of a Fortune 500 health care company, like Abbott, is a big win not only for Westfield but for the state of Indiana."

Duke's proposed 15% hike faces pushback

PLAINFIELD — Several large companies want regulators to order Duke Energy to refile paperwork supporting its proposed 15% rate increase. Duke Energy is seeking the Indiana Utility Regulatory Commission's approval for the rate hike for its 840,000 Indiana electric customers. But the Indianapolis Business Journal reported Walmart Inc., Kroger Co. and other big customers have asked the IURC to order Duke to refile all its rate case paperwork and exhibits, with formulas and linked spreadsheets. They and others say Duke is obstructing the regulatory process' normal give-and-take by making it difficult to examine key financial information. The IURC hasn't yet ruled on the motion, which is supported by Indiana's Office of Utility Consumer Counselor.

Suspended priest faces sex crimes charges

NOBLESVILLE — A suspended Catholic priest has appeared in court on charges that he sexually abused a teenage boy. The Indianapolis Star reported the Rev. David Marcotte appeared Tuesday in Hamilton County Superior Court on charges of felony child solicitation, vicarious sexual gratification and the dissemination of matter harmful to a minor. Prosecutors allege that Marcotte engaged the boy in sexual talk and lewd behavior over social media. The Indianapolis Archdiocese suspended Marcotte, 32, from public ministry in February after its victim assistance coordinator learned of the alleged abuse. The archdiocese said Marcotte was assigned to St. Malachy Parish in Brownsburg and St. Martin of Tours Parish in Martinsville at the time of the alleged abuse. Marcotte's next hearing is scheduled for Jan. 7 and he's to stand trial Feb. 10.

Charges in weekend triple shooting, fire

GARY — A man has been charged in the shooting deaths of three people and then setting a fire that destroyed the home occupied by the victims. Gary police officials say Reginald Carter fatally shot his girlfriend and two family members Friday. The Lake County prosecutors' office announced Monday that Carter, 31, has been charged with three counts of murder and one count of arson. Officials have not released any information about the victims, however family members say two of the victims were a woman and her son.

Probation in case of students driving bus

VALPARAISO — A former school bus driver who authorities say allowed children as young as 11 years old drive a bus has been sentenced to probation. The (Northwest Indiana) Times reported Joandrea McAtee, of Portage, was sentenced Monday to nearly two years of probation. McAtee pleaded guilty in September to felony neglect of a dependent in an agreement with prosecutors. McAtee, 28, can petition to reduce the charge to a misdemeanor if she completes probation. The Porter County sheriff's office has said McAtee allowed three students — ages 11, 13 and 17 — to drive the bus for a short distance in a rural area near Valparaiso as she was dropping students off from school in September 2018. McAtee was fired by the Porter Township school district.

Kentucky

College degrees climb, enrollment drops

FRANKFORT — The number of Kentucky college and university students receiving undergraduate degrees and certificates is continuing to climb, but preliminary enrollment figures are falling. The state Council on Postsecondary Education said Monday the continuing increase in degrees and credentials despite enrollment challenges indicates a strong commitment on Kentucky campuses to college completion. Council President Aaron Thompson said higher education leaders can claim success when students who are enrolled complete their programs and have the skills needed to succeed. Public and independent colleges and universities conferred a record 76,380 degrees and credentials last school year, up nearly 5% from the previous year and 39 from 10 years ago. The council said in a news release that preliminary undergraduate enrollment data for the fall 2019 semester shows a 2% decline from last year, continuing a five-year trend.

3 officers plead in fraud, to repay $170K

LOUISVILLE — Three police officers have pleaded guilty to falsifying overtime records and arrest citations to justify the hours. News outlets report former Louisville Metro police officers Brian Stanfield, Todd Roadhouse and Mark Final pleaded guilty to federal wire fraud charges Monday. Sentencing will be on Feb. 6. A Department of Justice news release said that from 2014 to 2017 the trio submitted overtime requests for times they didn't work with the Louisville department and with the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives on organized crime matters. The release said the former officers altered arrest times on citations and added each other's names to reports to cover up the falsified time cards. Stanfield, Roadhouse and Final are required to pay about $170,000 in restitutions.

Insurer Humana to lay off 2% of workforce

LOUISVILLE — Louisville-based Humana announced Monday it will cut 2% of its workforce — more than 800 people — by the end of the year, with some employees being let go as early as Thursday. Severance will be provided. The Courier-Journal reported that Humana employs 41,600 nationwide, so 2% would be about 832 people. The company said it expects to keep 12,000 in Louisville. Spokeswoman Kate Marx stated the company began evaluating its "work and cost structure" this year. Marx didn't say where cuts will be made. Officials said employees are encouraged to apply for the some 2,000 other open positions nationwide. Humana is one of the country's largest privately run Medicare providers. It laid off more than 1,000 during cuts in 2017.

UPS adding seasonal workers at job fairs

LOUISVILLE — UPS is holding one-day job fairs this week around the country, including a few in Kentucky. News outlets have reported the company plans to add 2,600 temporary workers in Louisville at its Worldport hub and expects to add about 100,000 seasonal employees overall for the holiday rush. The company said the Louisville job fair requires applications to be filled out online to schedule an interview. Applicants can leave the interview with a contingent job offer. Other Kentucky job fairs are in Lexington and Walton. All three are Friday.

Life sentence in crash fatal to 2 teens

RADCLIFF — A West Virginia man received a recommended life sentence in prison for the deaths of two teenagers during a car chase. News outlets report Shawn Welsh, 37, of Marion, West Virginia was sentenced Tuesday after being found guilty Monday of two counts of murder and two counts of assault on Monday. State police say Welsh was driving a stolen truck and leading police on a 21-mile, 18-minute chase when he crashed into a car, killing Jacob Barber, 18, and Katarina Peeters, 17, Oct. 20, 2018. A Hardin County jury deliberated for about three hours before recommending a life sentence. Welsh was also sentenced to an additional 43 years on possession of methamphetamine, evading police and theft. A final sentencing hearing will be Dec. 12.

Cell phones, recorders banned in Jefferson Co. courts

Courier staff report

Devices such as cell phones and other recording devices will no longer be permitted in Superior or Circuit courtrooms in Jefferson County

Electronic devices including cell phones or other recording devices will no longer be permitted in the courtrooms of Superior or Circuit courts in Jefferson County, effective this week. The new order does not apply to other areas of the courthouse.

The change came about after a meeting Friday, Oct. 25, among Kenneth Jasper, the Jefferson County sheriff's jail division commander, and Brian White, the assistant commander, and Judges Mike Hensley, D.J. Mote and Nancy Jacobs to review courthouse security policies and operations.

The judges issued the order, effective Monday, Oct. 28. The order has certain exceptions for attorneys who show a valid bar membership card, any government employee showing valid credentials, and any professional health providers — for example Dockside, LifeSpring, Centerstone, Wernle, SWIRYV and others — with a valid photo ID or credential.

The Jefferson County sheriff's officer at the security desk will inquire of those who enter about electronic devices to ensure compliance with the rule.

Anyone going to a courtroom and in possession of the banned devices will not be allowed to enter the courthouse.

Anyone caught violating the new rule and in possession of electronic devices in the prohibited areas will be brought to the presiding judge's attention for further action.

Sheriff Dave Thomas said he will provide a third special deputy to the security staff at the courthouse Nov. 4, 2019, and plans to make that position permanent. The Jefferson County Sheriff's Office Jail Division also will explore providers to work toward using video conferencing for hearings in court and the possibility of video conferencing between inmates and attorneys.

Also effective Oct. 28, 2019, The Jefferson County Sheriff's Office will no longer handle "Legal Mail" in the same manner.

Specifically, inmates who wish to send "Legal Mail" will be required to send such mail through the U.S. Postal Service. Jail staff will no longer be permitted to receive correspondence from inmates or otherwise enable such mail to be sent out of the facility to, for example, the clerk's office. The sheriff will ensure that indigent inmates are provided with two pre-stamped envelopes and four pieces of paper.

Indiana to consider government corruption hotline

Proposal would have State Board of Accounts, which regularly audits the spending of all local governments, run the hotline in conjunction with the office of the Indiana Inspector General, which investigates corruption by state officials and workers

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Indiana residents soon could have a hotline for reporting improper or illegal spending and other suspected corruption by local government officials, if lawmakers approve a proposal being drafted by a legislative committee.

Sen. Victoria Spartz said Indiana taxpayers have no clear place to go if they suspect officials are being unethical, and a single, state-run hotline would ensure their concerns are investigated, The (Northwest Indiana) Times reported.

"We have so many things in the government and it's hard for people to know where things are," she said.

Spartz suggested the State Board of Accounts, which regularly audits the spending of all local governments, run the hotline in conjunction with the office of the Indiana Inspector General, which investigates corruption by state officials and workers.

State Auditor Paul Joyce, who heads the State Board of Accounts, said his office already fields reports from local government employees who allege violations of the law or the misuse of public resources. He said the public is also welcome to contact his office with similar claims.

But Joyce warned that creating a hotline likely would require doubling his current staff of 15 investigators and changing state laws to establish standards for what must be investigated and to protect the anonymity of whistleblowers.

Rep. Matt Lehman agreed that a hotline could lead to excessive false reports from people upset about decisions made by local officials.

"I have neighbors who don't even know what branch of government I'm in, let alone whether the clerk-treasurer of the town is absconding with money," Lehman said.

Citizens who are informed enough to be aware of illegal action by local leaders already understand to contact their county prosecutor, the State Board of Accounts or their state representative or senator to report issues, Lehman said.

Sen. Karen Tallian noted that Indiana already has several separate hotlines to report child abuse, elder abuse, Medicaid fraud and other crimes. The Legislature should look at merging all the hotlines into a solo answering point that would refer citizen reports to the proper state agency, she said.

The committee wants the hotline proposal to be considered during the legislative session that begins in January.

State to drop teacher licensing program Pearson, return to ETS over complaints

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Indiana is switching up its teacher licensing program in response to complaints about low pass rates under the current testing program, in hopes of addressing a shortage of teachers in the state.

ETS, a nonprofit organization, will replace Pearson beginning September 2021 as the provider of licensing tests for prospective teachers, said Indiana Department of Education spokesman Adam Baker.

The move comes after Republican state Sen. Jean Leising, of Oldenburg, introduced legislation this year that required the state Board of Education to adopt a program that's administered nationally.

"I'm anxious to see what kind of results we get and I'm going to be monitoring this very closely after we have a couple years of data to see if pass rates improve over what we've been seeing on the current test used," Leising said, adding that the change is a step in the right direction in dealing with the teacher shortage in Indiana.

Pearson customized its tests to Indiana standards, while ETS provides national exams. For several years, Indiana educators and prospective teachers have criticized Pearson's testing program, which has been the state's testing vendor since 2014, the Tribune-Star reported.

"Test content and the scores required for passing are determined by each state and are informed by recommendations from local educators resulting from standard setting activities," Pearson director of media relations Scott Overland wrote in an email to the newspaper. "While we are disappointed in this decision, we are proud to serve students, teachers, and institutions in Indiana in many other ways and always are ready to help meet Indiana's education goals."

Rachel Williams, a media specialist, said passing Pearson's certification test for school media specialist was difficult even when she had worked four years at a library.

"As someone who took both the ETS and Pearson test for school librarian, I can tell you that the ETS asked questions that actually pertained to my job as a school librarian," William said. "I absolutely see it as a positive move (from Pearson to ETS)."

Tim McRoberts, associate executive director of the Indiana Association of School Principals, said the changes could definitely be helpful.

"There is no doubt about that," McRoberts said.

Ex-Juul exec alleges tainted products shipped

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Juul Labs executive who was fired earlier this year is alleging that the vaping company knowingly shipped 1 million tainted nicotine pods to customers.

The allegation comes in a lawsuit filed Tuesday by lawyers representing Siddharth Breja, a one-time finance executive at the e-cigarette maker. The suit claims that Breja was terminated after opposing company practices, including shipping the contaminated flavored pods and not listing expiration dates on Juul products.

The lawsuit does not specify the contamination issue or how it occurred. Lawyers for Breja declined to elaborate on the issue Wednesday.

A Juul spokesman said in a statement that the claims are "baseless" and that Breja was terminated because he failed to "demonstrate the leadership qualities" required for the job.

Juul, the best-selling e-cigarette brand in the U.S., has been besieged by criticism amid an explosion of underage vaping. The company faces multiple investigations by federal and state officials as well as lawsuits by families of teenagers who claim they became hooked on nicotine through the company's vapes.

Breja worked in Juul's global finance department less than 10 months. The lawsuit, filed in the Northern District of California, seeks damages for lost salary, bonuses and Juul stock, which it values at more than $10 million.

Breja describes a "reckless" and "win-at-all costs" culture at Juul, primarily driven by the company's former CEO, Kevin Burns, who was replaced as in a management shake-up last month.

In March, Breja says he learned that some batches of nicotine solution used in the company's mint pods had been contaminated. Breja claims that company management shipped roughly one million pods affected by the issue and failed to issue a recall or public announcement.

Juul's spokesman rejected Breja's account saying the company "determined the product met all applicable specifications."

When Breja protested the decision to ship the pods, the lawsuit alleges, his supervisor at Juul reminded him that "stockholders would lose significant personal wealth should he make his concerns public."

Breja claims he was wrongfully terminated for unrelated reasons the week after raising his concerns.

Federal officials are investigating more than 1,600 cases of lung damage linked to vaping, including nearly three dozen deaths. Many patients said they vaped THC, marijuana's intoxicating chemical, but officials have not yet implicated any single product or ingredient.

of them but not in a large enough amount to trigger corrective action, according to the consultant, Applied Geology and Environmental Science Inc.

The events leading to the open house began in March 2018 when regular detection monitoring using test wells showed "statistically significant increases" in molybdenum. There are specific steps that must be taken when that happens. Assessment monitoring at both sites began in September 2018. IKE installed four additional monitoring wells. The first round of assessment monitoring began in October 2018.

There followed the consultant's assessment of corrective measures, which are very technical and are detailed in the report, which is a pdf file at ovec.com/CCRCompliance/Clifty Creek Station/Landfill Runoff Collection Pond/Clifty Creek LRCP-Assessment of Corrective Measures Report.pdf

Closing the pond would be the quickest way to begin getting rid of the molybdenum in the groundwater, the consultant report says. Clifty Creek filed an unspecific closure plan three years ago without a planned date because filing of such a plan is required by the Coal Combustion Residue rule, which went into effect in 2015. Clifty Creek's pond closure would depend on when the pre-determined elevation of the landfill was reached.

The consultant report said the pond could be closed in three months if it is selected as the option to pursue.

Requirements for ponds like the landfill runoff collection pond are contained in the Coal Combustion Rule, whose final version was approved by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency in December 2014, effective in 2015. The Coal Combustion Rule categorizes coal combustion residue as a non-hazardous waste under Subtitle D of the federal Resource Conservation and Recovery Act.

By being put into Subtitle D, coal combustion residue ponds are not required to have permits, states are not required to have rules regulating the ponds and the rule cannot be enforced by the EPA, the consultant wrote in the report. The rule itself is what governs what happens with coal combustion residue.

Ivy Tech plans new $32M Columbus building with Cummins Foundation

From The Republic

Ivy Tech Community College announced a collaboration with the Cummins Foundation as the college plans for its $32 million new main campus building in Columbus.

The proposed 80,000-square-foot building will be built at the Columbus Air Park behind the college's current main campus building on Central Avenue.

"A new campus facility will significantly improve the learning and collaborative environments for our students and employees," said Steven Combs, Ivy Tech Columbus chancellor.

The Cummins Foundation Architecture Program will recommend architects for consideration and provide funds for the design portion of the college's new campus building.

This will represent the first building project sponsored by the Cummins Foundation Architecture Program since the design of the neighboring Advanced Manufacturing Center of Excellence at the Columbus Air Park in 2009.

Selection is underway to name an Indiana-based architect of record and contractor who will manage the building project. The Ivy Tech Foundation also will receive the Architecture Program grant from the Cummins Foundation once an architect is selected.

Funding for the new Columbus building was approved by the Indiana Legislature earlier this year and is included in the 2019-2021 Indiana state budget. The college anticipates breaking ground in 2020 and taking occupancy in 2022.

Mary Chandler, vice president of corporate responsibility for Cummins Inc. and CEO of the Cummins Foundation, said Ivy Tech has served Columbus residents and surrounding communities for more than 50 years with "invaluable educational pathways toward rewarding careers."

thing," Prasil said, later adding, "... I calculated this about seven times and we are 30% over the year before when you compare the actual collection report ..."

The board has said in the past that the purpose of the taxes collected monthly — and the $623,302 Tourism has on hand in cash and investments — is to support the tourism industry and grow more tourism opportunities while making sure there is some money set aside in the event of a bad year or downturn.

VisitMadison Inc. Executive Director Tawana Thomas said the financial report and the cash on hand are indications that "the state's on the right track, the county is on the right track and the numbers are there and they're verified from this report."

In other business, the board discussed setting up better guidelines on how tourism funds can be requested for projects ranging from smaller sponsorships and event marketings, to administration and even larger scale tourism development projects. The board has previously said it would like to consider more options for using a portion of its money to support tourism through such grant initiatives.

In the end, the board decided a meeting should be dedicated to just that topic rather than trying to consider the issue along with other monthly business. The board decided to try to organize a special meeting before the November regular meeting.

At age 15 he enrolled in an apprenticeship program with Freudenberg that developed into a career as a chemist and later as a production manager specializing in manmade leather products. He was united in marriage on June 30, 1956 to Dietlinde "Linda"Harnisch in Weinheim, Germany and this union was blessed with children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren. Fred's career briefly brought the family to Madison, Indiana in the early 1970s when he worked to establish production at Robus Products. In 1984, after establishing several other such production lines around the world, Fred and Linda settled in Madison where he continued in his position at Robus until his retirement. Never one to sit still for long, he began working at McDonald's. He enjoyed spending time with family and friends, walking in his neighborhood near Hereford Lake and chatting with his neighbors, sharing the bounty from the peach and apple trees that grew in his yard, and cultivating his flower and vegetable gardens. Fred also enjoyed wintering in Ft. Myers, Florida, and was a fan of Indiana University basketball. He was a member of the German-American Club of Louisville, Kentucky and the Prince of Peace Catholic Church. Fred died on Wednesday, October 9, 2019, at 8:52 AM at the Thornton Terrace Health Campus in Hanover, Indiana.

Charlie's Beat

Chris Watson lays down the beat for the Madison music scene

By CHARLIE ROHLFING

As much as we talk about all the great musical talent here in Madison, all the guitarists and the singers and the songwriters, there are a handful of guys who form the backbone rhythm section for many of the popular local rock bands.

Danny Cook and Tim Halcomb are the ubiquitous bass boys. And on the drums, nine out of 10 times you'll find Kerry Mefford or Chris Watson sitting at the back, holding it all together.

Chris's path to the drums plays out like a lot of other local musicians. A musical family (his dad and brother had a band). Early interest (he started when he was 5 years old). Years of practice (lessons every Saturday morning at Madison Music). And great mentors (Chuck Barnes was a huge influence).

His first junior high garage band included Jake Stuart, Scott Pyles and Tony Pike. He graduated to playing bars and hog roasts as he got older in a band called Viscous Blend, with Mark Cicenas, Dave Dwyer and Brian McKay. And finally, he played with a super popular band called 5 East in the late '90s.

"Those were the golden years of the Louisville bar scene," Chris said. "Butchertown Pub, Phoenix Hill Tavern ... I even played the Toy Tiger before it folded. We played in Cincy, Indy and as far away as Columbus, Ohio. It was five years of constant playing, and it was really fun. But I also had a day job that whole time. It could be brutal.

Chris Watson

"After the 5 East days I started back playing with Dave Dwyer quite a bit, recording his original stuff. I played the open mic nights at the old JoeyGs, and that led to playing with the Blues Devils for a couple years. Then Jimmy Davis started picking me up.

"I still play with Jimmy and Danny Cook a lot these days. I play with Junkbox, which is Jimmy and Bill Lancton. I'm the drummer for the Doctor's Band. I play with Leah Pruett. And I'm part of the Jordan Wilson Coalition.

"But as busy as I've been, I've still been holding back some until my last kid gets out of high school, which is right around the corner. Once they're all out of the house I'm going to really fill up my time with playing. I won't have to say no anymore.

"There is so much opportunity to play in Madison these days, with all the different styles and sounds. I want to help develop the talent that's here now. I envision more coffeehouse combos and jazz trios happening.

"The phrase describing Madison as 'Music City Indiana' is brilliant. We're just seeing the tip of the iceberg of what this town can become, and it's my hope and intention to be a part of the growth that is to come."

Country legend Bill Anderson in Scottsburg Friday on birthday

By CHARLIE ROHLFING

I caught up with Bill Anderson by phone earlier this week at his Nashville home. The Country Music Hall of Famer and Songwriters Hall of Fame inductee was very excited to be returning to the Ross Country Jamboree in Scottsburg.

"I've played that venue three or four times," Anderson said. "I enjoy playing there, the folks are nice. And it's probably the smallest place I'll play this year, which is kind of fun. These days I only play the places I enjoy."

Anderson will turn 82 this Friday. "I can't remember being on the road for a birthday," Anderson mused. "It may have happened but I don't recall. We'll probably cut a cake or something!"

Bill Anderson is probably best known for his solo hits like Still, Mama Sang a Song and Po' Folks. But he has written or collaborated on 400-plus songs recorded by other artists. "I'll sing several of my old favorites, of course, but we also do a medley of songs I've written for other people, like Conway Twitty, Brad Paisley, Kenny Chesney and George Strait."

Anderson's Po' Folks band has gone through many changes over the years, as to be expected, but is still a venerable bunch. "The current lineup includes a veteran of 30 years, and the shortest tenure is about 16 years. I use a six-piece when I play the Grand Ol' Opry, but I travel with a four-piece. Three of them sing background vocals though, so it's a very full sound."

Bill Anderson

HOT TIP OF THE WEEK:

The red hot ticket this weekend is the new Mad Hop Music Fest on Saturday. There are 25 bands playing at various indoor venues. And one of the great things about Mad Hop is it's over by 7 p.m. That leaves seven more live music events around town on Saturday evening! Oh, and you have some great choices for Friday too, including Maria Carrelli at the Red Bike and Mack McKenzie at the Taproom. Rest up people, it's gonna be a wild weekend.

These days Anderson only does about 35 or 40 road shows a year, plus his 60 or so Opry appearances. "I still enjoy it, I enjoy the people. Bottom line, the good Lord has given me the health, so I intend to just keep going as long as I can."

This is a great opportunity to see one of country music's true legends, just a short drive away in Scottsburg. Tickets are $30 and are available at RossCountryJamboree.com

John Legend co-writes new take on 'Baby, It's Cold Outside'

NEW YORK (AP) — John Legend and Kelly Clarkson, his fellow coach on "The Voice," have joined forces on a re-imagined version of the oft-criticized Christmas classic "Baby, It's Cold Outside."

The song, written by Frank Loesser in 1944, is a duet that has a man trying to convince a woman to stay overnight at his home on a cold winter's night. It's been a flashpoint of the #MeToo era, with foes calling it everything from sexist to an ode to date rape.

Legend and comedian Natasha Rothwell of HBO's "Insecure" wrote the new take, which includes Clarkson leading the lyrics:

"What will my friends think (I think they should rejoice)
If I have one more drink? (It's your body, and your choice.)"

Gone are such lines as, "Gosh, your lips look delicious," sung by the man, and "Say, what's in this drink?" by the woman.

The Grammy-winning Legend includes the song on a new expanded version of his first Christmas album, "A Legendary Christmas: The Deluxe Edition," out Nov. 8.

The original song won an Academy Award in 1949 after Esther Williams and Ricardo Montalban performed it in the film "Neptune's Daughter." Among the famous who have reprised it are Lady Gaga and Tony Bennett, Ella Fitzgerald and Louis Jordan, Amy Grant and Vince Gill, and Fantasia and CeeLo Green.

Dale Crafton honored with Sagamore of the Wabash

Courier Staff Report

INDIANAPOLIS — Hanover resident Dale Ray Crafton has been honored with the Sagamore of the Wabash award.

The Sagamore of the Wabash Award is the highest honor bestowed on a citizen by Indiana's governor, and serves as a tribute to those who have rendered a distinguished service to the state.

Crafton was presented with the honor Monday, Oct. 21, in the governor's office at the Capitol by Gov. Eric Holcomb and State Sen. Chris Garten, R-Charlestown.

Garten requested Crafton, a retired active-duty veteran, receive the Sagamore of the Wabash Award for his heroics while serving in the Vietnam War as well as his career of service in public education.

Crafton volunteered to enlist is the Army when he was 17, making him one of the Army's youngest 2nd lieutenants.

In 1966, Crafton received two Silver Stars with Oak Leaf Clusters for bravery while in Vietnam for instances that happened three months apart. In two nearly identical situations, Crafton and his platoon were outnumbered and ambushed by the Viet Cong. During both, Crafton had complete disregard for his personal safety and risked his life to outmaneuver the enemy.

In total, Crafton received 13 medals and citations during his service in Vietnam, including a Bronze Star for Valor, a Bronze Star for Meritorious Service, a Purple Heart, a Good Conduct Medal, the Vietnam Service Medal, the Vietnamese Campaign Ribbon and the Combat Infantryman Badge. He was enshrined into the Indiana Military Veterans Hall of Fame in 2017.

After retiring as a 1st Lieutenant in the Army, Crafton received a bachelor's degree and doctorate in education. He spent eight years as a varsity basketball coach followed by 22 years as a vice principal and principal. Crafton went on to become a PGA Pro, is a past president of the Indiana High School Athletic Association, and has co-authored a book with his wife, Kathy.

"Dale Crafton is the embodiment of a selfless public servant. I couldn't think of a better person to receive Indiana's highest honor," Garten said. "He risked his life in combat multiple times while in Vietnam, and then he returned home and continued serving his community, state and nation by dedicating 30 years to a career in public education. Dale's strong moral character is unparalleled and he is in constant pursuit of excellence. Congratulations to Dale and his family, he is truly deserving."

Help with Census form coming to Switz. library

Courier staff report

A U.S. Census Bureau representative will be at the Switzerland County Public Library in Vevay Friday Nov. 1 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. to answer questions about how to fill out the form to respond to the 2020 Census.

Those needing help filling out the form or who would like help in filling out the form online can get help.

Other sessions will be scheduled at other locations in the area in the next few weeks.

The U.S. Constitution mandates that a census of the population be conducted once every 10 years. Census data are used to determine congressional representation in the states and how billions of dollars in federal funds are distributed to states and local communities every year for critical public services and infrastructure, including health clinics, schools, roads and emergency services.

Trick or treat schedule updates

With the possibility of inclement weather, Carroll County has rescheduled trick or treating to Nov. 2 from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Madison, Hanover and Vevay still are scheduled for Oct. 31 from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Trimble County still is scheduled for Oct. 31 from 6 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. The Trimble County Sheriff's Office will update its Facebook page by 2 p.m. Oct. 31 if weather postpones trick-or-treating.

GIRLS SOCCER PLAYER OF THE YEAR

Year away does wonders for Switzerland's Anderson

By DAVID CAMPBELL
Courier Staff Writer
dcampbell@madisoncourier.com

Matty Anderson had played soccer nearly her entire life. For as long as she could remember, the Switzerland County senior had a ball on her foot, rain or shine, nearly 12 months a year.

So it wasn't surprising that just before her junior season, Anderson decided to call it quits. After playing soccer for more than 10 years, she was ready for something else.

"The night before voluntaries started in June, she came up to me and said 'Dad, I don't want to play soccer,' and I was OK with it," said Tully Anderson, Switzerland County's head girls soccer coach and Matty's father. "She wanted to run cross country and she did very well. I think it gave her a little time to think and she missed her friends. She had played club since she was eight and she was just burned out."

"We know that whatever she does, just like always, she's going to be successful at. She's got a great head on her shoulders, she's very grounded and she'll make everybody from Switzerland County proud, no matter what she does."
Switzerland Co. coach
Tully Anderson

The year away did wonders for Matty. After earning all-Ohio River Valley Conference honors in cross country as a junior, she returned to soccer for her senior year and put on an offensive show, scoring 13 goals and dishing out six assists to lead the Pacers to the ORVC title and sectional runner-up finish. As a result, she was the easy choice as The Madison Courier's Girls Soccer Player of the Year.

"I wasn't enjoying the sport and it wasn't putting me in a good place mentally, so I took a break and tried a new sport for a season," Matty Anderson said. "A lot of the people on the team I'm friends with all season so they convinced me to come to a few practices over the summer and I just kept coming. I'm glad that I did."

Matty's influence on the Pacers this season was quickly noticeable. A defender during her first two seasons, Matty was moved up front by her father to take advantage of her tremendous athleticism and the move paid instant dividends.

Teaming with sophomore Raylinn Kappes, the Pacers had a dangerous 1-2 combination. Along with Matty's 13 goals and six assists, Kappes had eight goals and eight assists of her own. Often, the two speedsters would work in tandem as they raced down the field, attacking opposing defenses.

"Her and Raylinn are best friends and one is just as fast as the other," Tully Anderson said. "Raylinn was smart enough to get the ball to Matty and when teams started marking Matty, she'd do the same for Raylinn. We haven't had that before, so it was a real nice advantage to know that we could dominate on either side of the field if need be."

That combination allowed the Pacers to win nine games and reach the sectional championship where they lost 3-0 to 13th-ranked Oldenburg Academy. The Twisters reached the regional final before bowing out to Evansville Day.

"Considering that they were 13th

World Series

Nats top Astros 7-2, force Game 7

By RONALD BLUM
AP Baseball Writer

HOUSTON — Stephen Strasburg took a gem into the ninth inning and Juan Soto ran all the way to first base with his bat following a go-ahead home run, the same way Houston slugger Alex Bregman did earlier.

Yep, these Washington Nationals have matched the Astros pitch for pitch, hit for hit, win for win — even home run celebration for home run celebration.

Adam Eaton and Soto hit solo homers off Justin Verlander in the fifth, Anthony Rendon also went deep and drove in five runs, and the Nationals beat the Astros 7-2 Tuesday night to tie the World Series at 3-3.

Now, it's onto a winner-take-all Game 7 to decide the first Fall Classic in which the visiting team won the first six.

"It's weird, really. You can't explain it," Washington manager Dave Martinez said.

Fired up after a disputed call at first base went against them in the seventh, the Nationals padded their lead moments later when Rendon homered off Will Harris. Martinez, still enraged at umpires, was ejected during the seventh-inning stretch, screaming as a pair of his coaches held him back while the crowd sang along to "Deep in the Heart of Texas."

Rendon added a two-run double off Chris Devenski in the ninth to just about seal it after Strasburg gutted through without his best fastball to throw five-hit ball for 8 1/3 innings.

Washington pitching coach Paul Menhart told Strasburg after the first inning that he was tipping pitches. Strasburg allowed only three more hits.

"Started shaking my glove, so they didn't know what I was throwing," he said. "It's something that has burned me in the past, and it burned me there in the first."

Nationals ace Max Scherzer, boosted by an injection of painkiller, is primed to return from an irritated nerve in his neck to start Game 7. Scherzer was warming up in the seventh before Rendon's homer, then sat down as Martinez became the first manager tossed from a Series game since Atlanta's Bobby Cox in 1996.

"Anytime we get Max on the mound for us, we like our chances," Rendon said.

Now the Nationals will attempt their ultimate comeback in a year in which they were written off time after time, hoping for the first title in the 51-season history of a franchise that started as the Montreal Expos and the first for Washington since the Senators in 1924. Zack Greinke will be on the mound for the Astros, who led the majors with 107 wins and are seeking their second title in three seasons.

Visiting teams have won three straight Game 7s in the Series since the Cardinals defeated Texas at home in 2011.

Washington rebounded from a 19-31 start — the Nats were given just a 1.6% chance to win the Series on May 23 — to finish 93-69. They rebounded from a 3-1 eighth-inning deficit against Milwaukee in the NL wild-card game, a two games to one deficit vs. the Los Angeles Dodgers in the Division Series and a 2-1, fifth-inning deficit in Game 6 vs. the Astros.

Outscored 19-3 at Nationals Park while going 1 for 21 with runners in scoring position, the Nationals got the strong outing they needed from Strasburg, who allowed his only runs in the first inning, struck out seven and walked two while throwing 104 pitches.

"It was a mental grind out there, especially after the first," Strasburg said. "Just got to keep fighting."

He improved to 5-0 with a 1.98 ERA in six postseason starts this October despite failing to get a swing and miss in the first two innings for the first time this year, and eight of nine swings and misses overall were

NCAA board approves athlete compensation for image, likeness

By RALPH D. RUSSO
AP College Sports Writer

The NCAA took a major step Tuesday toward allowing college athletes to cash in on their fame, voting to permit them to "benefit from the use of their name, image and likeness."

The nation's largest governing body for college sports and its member schools now must figure out how to allow athletes to profit — something they have fought against doing for years — while still maintaining rules regarding amateurism. The NCAA Board of Governors, meeting at Emory University in Atlanta, directed each of the NCAA's three divisions to create the necessary new rules immediately and have them in place no later than January 2021.

Board chair Michael Drake, the president of Ohio State University, said the NCAA must embrace change and modernize "to provide the best possible experience for college athletes."

But such changes will come with limitations, he said.

"The board is emphasizing that change must be consistent with the values of college sports and higher education and not turn student-athletes into employees of institutions," Drake told The Associated Press.

A group of NCAA administrators has been exploring since May the ways in which athletes could be allowed to receive compensation for the use of their names, images and likenesses. The working group, led by Ohio State athletic director Gene Smith and Big East Commissioner Val Ackerman, presented a status report Tuesday to the university presidents who make up the Board of Governors.

Smith and Ackerman's group laid out principles and guidelines, endorsed by the board, to be followed as NCAA members go about crafting new rules and tweaking existing ones.

Some college sports leaders fear allowing athletes to earn outside income could open the door to corruption.

"One of the most distinctive things about college sports is this whole recruitment process," NCAA President Mark Emmert told the AP. "The whole notion of trying to maintain as fair a playing field as you can is really central to all this. And using sponsorship arrangements, in one way or another, as recruiting inducements is something everybody is deeply concerned about."

Ackerman and Smith said the challenges lie in determining what regulations need to be set in place; what markets athletes should be allowed to access; what entities and individuals they should be permitted to work with; and whether the schools themselves could provide funds to athletes through licensing deals.

The NCAA's move came a month after California passed a law that would make it illegal for NCAA schools to prohibit college athletes from making money on endorsements, autograph signings and social media advertising, among other activities.

"California has made it clear that we won't accept any arbitrary limitations on college athletes' right to their name, image, and likeness," state Sen. Nancy Skinner, who co-sponsored the bill, posted in Twitter.

The California law goes into effect in 2023. More than a dozen states have followed with similar legislation, some of which could be on the books as soon as next year.

"This is another attempt by the NCAA at stalling on this issue," said Ramogi Huma, executive director of the National College Players Association, an advocacy group.

It's hard to say exactly how much athletes could fetch on an open market for their names. It could range from a few hundred dollars for creating personalized video and audio greetings for fans through companies such as Cameo, to thousands of dollars for doing television advertisements for local businesses.

NCAA rules allow for an athletic scholarship that covers tuition, room and board, books and a cost-of-attendance stipend. The cost of attendance is determined by the institution using federal guidelines and generally ranges from $2,000-$5,000 per semester.

Gabe Feldman, director of the Tulane University sports law program, said the NCAA has taken an important step by recognizing its rules are antiquated.

on breaking balls. Strasburg escaped a two-on, two-outs jam in the fourth by striking out Carlos Correa.

After George Springer's one-out double put runners at second and third in the fifth, José Altuve struck out on curve in the dirt and Michael Brantley hit a hard grounder to second.

"Stras is doing Stras things out there," Rendon said. "It's been amazing."

Sean Doolittle got the final two outs as the Nationals bullpen headed into Game 7 relatively rested. He gave up a two-out double to Correa before retiring Robinson Chirinos on a popup.

Verlander dropped to 0-6 with a 5.68 ERA in seven Series starts, a blemish on his otherwise sterling career.

In the first game with lead changes since the opener, Rendon's RBI single through a shifted infield put the Astros ahead in the first. Verlander gave up 10 runs in the first inning during six postseason starts this year after allowing 12 during 34 regular-season outings,

Houston needed just four pitches to tie the score. Springer lined a fastball off the left-field scoreboard, at 112 mph off the bat the hardest-hit ball of the Series. He advanced on a wild pitch and scored on Altuve's sacrifice fly to left, easily beating Soto's throw.

Bregman put the Astros ahead on Strasburg's 12th pitch, driving a fastball into the Crawford Boxes over the left-field scoreboard for his fourth home run of the postseason and third of the Series. Bregman carried his bat out of the batter's box and tried to hand it to first base coach Don Kelly, only for the bat to fall as Kelly stuck out his hand for a shake.

Eaton tied the score in the fifth when Verlander hung a slider. Soto, who homered at age 20 in the opener, followed one out later with his second long ball after turning 21. He lined a high-and-inside fastball into the right-field upper deck, a no-doubt drive Verlander didn't bother to watch.

Soto, too, flipped the bat at his first base coach, Tom Bogar.

"I don't think there's a person in the building that would have assumed that all road teams were going to win," Houston manager AJ Hinch said. "We've just got to make sure that last one is not the same."

Any person interested in submitting a bid for the Bonds may furnish in writing to the Corporation c/o Baker Tilly Municipal Advisors, LLC ("Baker Tilly"), 8365 Keystone Crossing, Suite 300, Indianapolis, Indiana 46240-2687 (317) 465-1500 or by e-mail to bids@bakertilly.com, on or before 11:00 a.m. (Indianapolis Time) November 14, 2019, the person's name, address, and telephone number. Interested persons may also furnish an e-mail address. The undersigned Secretary will notify (or cause to be notified) each person so registered of the date and time bids will be received not less than twenty-four (24) hours before the date and time of sale. The notification shall be made by telephone at the number furnished by such person and also by e-mail address has been received.
Notice is hereby given that electronic proposals will be received vial PARITY® pursuant to this Notice until the time specified in the Notice, but no bid will be received after the time for receiving bids specified above. To the extent any instructions or directions set forth in PARITY® conflict with this Notice, the terms of this Notice shall control. For further information about PARITY®, potential bidders may contact the Corporation's municipal advisor, Baker Tilly at (317) 465-1500 or PARITY® at (212) 849-5021.
At the time designated for the sale, the Corporation will receive at the offices of Baker Tilly, 8365 Keystone Crossing, Suite 300, Indianapolis, Indiana, and consider bids for the purchase of the following described Bonds:

Madison Consolidated School Building Corporation Ad Valorem Property Tax First Mortgage Bonds, Series 2019 (the "Bonds") in the principal amount of $5,170,000; Fully registered form; Denomination $5,000 and integral multiples thereof (or in such other denomination as requested by the winning bidder); Originally dated the date of delivery of the Bonds; Bearing interest at a rate or rates to be determined by bidding, payable on July 15, 2020, and semiannually thereafter; Interest payable by check mailed one business day prior to the interest payment date or by wire transfer to depositories on the interest payment date to the person or depository in whose name each Bond is registered with the trustee on the fifteenth day immediately preceding such interest payment date; Maturing or subject to mandatory redemption on January 15 and July 1 beginning no earlier than July 15, 2020 through no later than January 15, 2032 on the dates and in the amounts as provided by the Corporation prior to the sale.

As an alternative to PARITY®, bidders may submit a sealed bid or e-mail the bid electronically to the Corporation's municipal advisor at the address described above until the time and on the date identified in the notice given by, or on behalf of the Corporation, twenty-four hours prior to the sale of the Bonds. Upon completion of the bidding procedures described herein, the results of the sealed, non-electronic bids received shall be compared to the electronic bids received by the Corporation.
If a potential bidder has questions related to the School Corporation, the financing or submission of bids, questions should be submitted by email to the addresses above no later than 11:00 a.m. (Indianapolis Time) on November 15, 2019. To the best of the School Corporation's ability, all questions will be addressed by or on behalf of the School Corporation and sent to potential bidders, including any bidders requesting 24 hours' notice of sale, no later than 5:00 p.m. (Indianapolis Time) on November 15, 2019. Additionally, upon request, the written responses will be emailed to any other interested bidder. Bidders should review this notice as well as the Preliminary Official Statement and submit any questions in advance of this deadline to submit questions.
The Corporation reserves the right to adjust the maturity schedule following the sale in order to accomplish the Corporation's financial objectives by reallocating debt service based upon the rates bid by the successful bidder (the "Purchaser").
The Bonds are not subject to optional redemption prior to maturity. A bid may designate that a given maturity or maturities shall constitute a term bond, and the semi- annual amounts set forth in the schedule provided prior to the sale shall constitute the mandatory sinking fund redemption requirements for such term bond or bonds. For purposes of computing net interest cost, the mandatory redemption amounts shall be treated as maturing on the dates set fourth in the schedule provided prior to the sale.
In the case of redemption, 30 days' notice will be given by mail to the registered owners of the Bonds to be redeemed, and accrued interest will be paid to the date fixed for redemption. Interest on the Bonds so called for redemption will cease on the redemption date fixed in said notice if funds are available at the place of redemption to redeem the Bonds so called on the date fixed in said notice, or thereafter when presented for payment.
Each bid must be for all of the Bonds and must state the rate of interest which each maturity of the Bonds is to bear, stated in multiples of 1/8th or 1/100th of 1%. The maximum interest rate on the Bonds shall not exceed 5.00% per annum. All Bonds maturing on the same date shall bear the same rate. Bids shall set out the total amount of interest payable over the term of the Bonds and the net interest cost on the Bonds covered by the bid. No bid for less that 99.50% of the face value of the Bonds will be considered. The Bonds will be awarded to the lowest responsible and responsive bidder who has submitted a bid in accordance herewith. The winning bidder will be the one who offers the lowest true interest cost to the Corporation. The true interest cost rate is that rate which, when used to compute the total present value as of the date of delivery of the Bonds of all debt service payments on the Bonds on the basis of semiannual compounding, produces an amount equal to the sum of the par value of the Bonds minus any premium bid plus any discount. In the event of a bidder's error in interest cost rate calculations, the interest rates and premium, if any, set forth or incorporated by reference in the official bid form will be considered as the intended bid. No conditional bids will be considered. The right is reserved to reject any and all bids. If an acceptable bid is not received for the Bonds on the date of sale hereinbefore fixed, the sale may be continued from day to day thereafter without further advertisement, during which time no bid which provides a higher total interest cost to the Corporation than the best bid received at the time of the advertised sale will be considered.
A good faith deposit ("Deposit") in the form of cash, wire transfer or certified or cashier's check in the amount of $51,700 payable to the order of the Corporation is required to be submitted by the Purchaser not later than 3:30 p.m. (Indianapolis Time) on the next business day following the award. If such Deposit is not received by that time, the Corporation may reject the bid. No interest on the Deposit will accrue to the Purchaser. The Deposit will be applied to the purchase price of the Bonds. In the event the Purchaser fails to honor its accepted bid, the Deposit will be retained by the Corporation as Liquidated damages.
The Purchaser shall make payment for such Bonds and accept delivery thereof within five days after being notified that the Bonds are ready for delivery, at such place in the City of Indianapolis, Indiana, as the Purchaser may designate, or at such other location mutually agreed to by the Madison Consolidated Schools (the "School Corporation") and the Purchaser. The Bonds will be ready for delivery within 45 days after the date of sale. If the Corporation fails to have the Bonds ready for delivery prior to the close of banking hours on the forty-fifth day after the date of sale, the Purchaser may secure the release of the bid upon request in writing, filed with the Corporation. Unless otherwise requested by the winning bidder, the Purchaser is expected to apply to a securities depository registered with the Security and Exchange Commission ("SEC") to make such Bonds depository-eligible. If the Bonds are reoffered, at the time of delivery of the Bonds to the Purchaser, the Purchaser will be required to certify to the Corporation the initial reoffering price to the public of a substantial amount of each maturity of the Bonds.
All provisons of the bid form and Preliminary Official Statement (as hereinafter defined) are incorporated herein. As set forth in the Preliminary Official Statement, the Purchaser agrees by submission of their bid to assist the Corporation in establishing the issue price of the Bonds under the terms outlined therein and shall execute and deliver to the Corporation at closing an "issue price" certificate, together with the supporting pricing wires or equivalent communications, with such modifications as may be appropriate or necessary, in the reasonable judgement of the Purchaser, the Corporation and Ice Miller LLP ("Bond Counsel").
Bidders must comply with the rules of PARITY® in addition to requirements of this Notice. To the extent there is a conflict between the rules of PARITY® and this Notice, this Notice shall control. Bidders bay change and submit bids as many times as they wish during the sale, but they may not withdraw a submitted bid. The last bid submitted by a bidder prior to the deadline for the receipt of bids will be compared to all ohter final bids to determine the winning bid. During the sale. no bidder will see any other bidder's bid, nor will they see the status of their bid relative to other bids (e.g., whether their bid is a leading bid).
It is anticipated that CUSIP identification numbers will be printed on the Bonds, but neither the failure to print such numbers on any Bond nor any error with respect thereto shall constitute cause for failure or refusal by the successful bidder therefor to accept delivery of and pay for the Bonds in accordance wiht the terms of its proposal. No CUSIP identification number shall be deemed to be apart of any Bond or a part of the contract evidenced thereby and no liability shall hereafter attah to the Corporation or any of its officers or agents because of or on account of such numbers. All expenses in relation ot the printing of CUSIP identification numbers on the Bonds shall be paid for by the Corporation; provided, however, that the CUSIP Service Bureau charge for the assignment of said numbers shall be the responsibility of and shall be paid for by the Purchaser. The Purchaser will also be responsible for any other fees or expenses it incurs in connection with the resale of the Bonds.
The approving opinion of Bond Counsel, together with a transcript of the proceedings relating to the issuance of the Bonds and closing papers in the usual form showing no litigation questioning the validity of the Bonds, will be furnished to the Purchaser at the expense of the Corporation.
The Corporation was organized for the purpose of constructing and renovating school building and leasing such building to the School Corporation. All action has been taken and the Bonds are issued in compliance with the provisions of I.C. 20-47-3 (the "Act"). The Bonds will be secured by a Trust Indenture (the "Trustee") and will be subject to the terms and provisions of the Indenture. The Corporation will certify as to facts to support the conclusion that the Bonds do not constitute private activity bonds as defined in Section 141 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended to the date hereof (the "Code"). The Bonds have been designated as qualified tax-exempt obligations for purposes of Section 265(b)(3) of the Code.
The property to be covered by the Indenture has been leased for a period of 12 years to the School Corporation. The Lease Agreement (the "Lease") provides for rent during renovation in the amount of up to $1,377,500 per payment payable on June 30 and December 31 beginning on June 30, 2020 until completion of construction. Thereafter, the Lease provides for annual payments in the of $2,755,000, plus the payment of all taxes and assessments, which annual rental is payable semiannually on June 30 and December 31 in each year, commencing with the completion of the construction or June 30, 2021, whichever is later.
After the sale of all Bonds issued by the Corporation to pay for the cost of renovation, including the acquisition of the sites thereof and other expenses incidental thereto, the annual rental shall be rduced toa n amount equal to the multiple of $1,000 next highest to the highest sum of principal and interest due on such Bonds in each twelve month period ending on January 15 plus $5,000, payable in equal semiannual installments.
All bidders shall be deemed to be advised as to the provisions of the above-mentioned Indenture and Lease and the provisions of the Act.
The Bonds constitute an indebtedness only of the Corporation, payable in accordance with the terms of the Indenture. The Bonds constitute a valid and legally binding obligation of the Building Corporation and are payable from Lease rental payments to be received from the School Corporation, which Lease rental payments are payable form ad valorem taxes to be collected on the taxable property within the School Corporation; however, the School Corporation's collection of the levy may be limited by operation of I.C. 6-1.1-20-6, which provides taxpayers with tax credits for property taxes attributable to different classes of property in an amount that exceeds certain percentages of the gross assessed value of that property. The School Corporation is required by law to fully fund the payment of debt service on the Bonds in an amount sufficient to pay the debt service, regardless of any reduction in property tax collections due to the application of such tax credits. In the opinion of Bond Counse, under the existing federal statutes, decisions, regulations and rulings, the interest on the Bonds is exempt from all income taxation in Indiana. In the opinion of Bond Counsel, under the existing federal statures, deisions, regulations and rulings, the interest on the Bonds is excludable from gross income for purposes of federal income taxation.
The Corporation has prepared a Preliminary Official Statement (the "Preliminary Official Statement") relating to the Bonds which it has deemed to be nearly final. A copy of the Preliminary Official Statement may be obtained from the Corporation's municipal advisor, Baker Tilly, 8365 Keystone Crossing, Suite 300, Indianapolis, Indiana 46240-2687. Within seven (7) business days of the sale, the Corporation will provide the successful bidder with sufficient copies of the Final Official Statement (the "Final Official Statement") at the Corporation's expense in order for such bidder to comply with Section (b)(4) of the SEC Rule 15c2-12 and the rules of the Municipal Securities Rulemaking Board. Additional copies, at the Purchaser's expense, must be requested within five (5) business days of the sale. Inquiries concerning matters contained in the Preliminary Official Statement must be made and pricing and other information necessary to complete the Final Official Statement must be submitted by the Purchaser within two (2) business days following the sale to be included in the Final Official Statement.
If the Bonds are reoffered, the School Corporation agrees to enter into a first amendment to master continuing disclosure undertaking and second supplement to master continuing disclosure undertaking (collectively, the "Master Agreement") in order to permit the Purchaser to comply with the SEC Rule 15c2-12, as amended to the date hereof. A copy of such Master Agreement is available from the School Corporation or municipal advisor at the addresses below.
Further information relative to the Bonds and a copy of the Preliminary Official Statement may be obtained upon application to Bake Tilly, 8365 Keystone Crossing, Suite 300, Indianapolis, Indiana 46240-2687, municipal advisor to the School Corporation; Robert Rund and Alex Carlisle, Lewis & Kappes, P.C., One American Square, Suite 2500, Indianapolis, Indiana 46282, attorney for the School Corporation; or Jeff Studebaker, Superintendent of the School Corporation, 2421 Wilson Avenue, Madison, Indiana 47250.

in the state and we are a smaller school that doesn't have many club players, I think we played pretty well," Matty said of the sectional loss.

While Matty's soccer career is over, she will begin track & field in the spring and then, on July 1, she will head into the Air Force where she plans to pursue cybersecurity training.

For Matty, the decision to enlist in the Air Force was a no-brainer. She comes from a long line of Air Force veterans, including her father.

"I knew it was a good field to get into and it was going to be needed in the future so I decided to get a head start into that field," Matty said of cybersecurity.

Tully Anderson, who played soccer in the Air Force, not only supported his daughter's decision, he knows that she will tackle the service with the same enthusiasm that she has brought to everything in her life.

"She is an honor student, carries a 4.0 and could have done anything she wanted, but she chose the Air Force and we're awfully proud of her," Tully said. "We know that whatever she does, just like always, she's going to be successful at. She's got a great head on her shoulders, she's very grounded and she'll make everybody from Switzerland County proud, no matter what she does."

Día de los Muertos

Students celebrate lost loved ones with weekend activities

By SARAH BUCKER

This weekend, the Hanover College Spanish Club, with help from Professor Eduardo Santa Cruz of the Spanish Department, will host a series of events to celebrate, educate students and end misconceptions surrounding Día de los Muertos or Day of the Dead.

Día de los Muertos is a Mexican holiday that honors the death of loved ones by celebrating and remembering their lives. Those who celebrate this holiday believe that, on Nov. 1, the souls of deceased children are able to return to earth and reunite with their families. Then, on Nov. 2, the souls of deceased adults are able to return to earth and visit their loved ones as well.

"Día de los Muertos is really a celebration on the passing away of the people we love," said Cruz. "It's a way to honor them and to celebrate them by remembering them."

Día de los Muertos is celebrated by creating altars with candles, flowers and items to offer to the deceased family members, such as favorite food or toys for the children. Elaborately decorated sugar skulls are also placed on the alter.

This holiday is rooted deeply in both Catholic and pre-Colombian traditions. Before the conquest of Latin America, deceased family members were celebrated by indigenous communities in the month of August during the harvest. "For the indigenous populations, it had to do more with the cycle of life — the rebirth, the death and the bringing back of the goods that we enjoy in life," Cruz said.

Because of the combining of Mesoamerican and Catholic traditions, the celebration of the deceased was moved to correlate with the Catholic holidays of Día de Todos los Santos or All Saint's Day on Nov. 1 and Día de los Santos Difuntos or All Souls Day on Nov. 2. Día de los Muertos still is celebrated Nov. 1 and Nov. 2. The holiday has become a time to invite loved ones back to visit you, but also to remind everyone of the inevitability of natural process of death.

Many misconceptions surround this holiday. Cruz explained that when many western civilizations think of death, it is something to be feared and avoided in discussion.

"The Mexican tradition is more upfront," Cruz said. "It (death) is dealt with and seen as something inevitable that has to be faced. It is not about mourning, though mourning can occur, but it is about celebrating by trying to bring out the best of people — the people that we love."

Some people may even think the celebration of Día de los Muertos is some kind of evil ritual. "But this is certainly not the case," Cruz said. "It is quite the contrary because as I mentioned it is celebratory in nature."

On Thursday, Oct. 31, an altar will be on display for students to honor their deceased loved ones as the holiday encourages. This altar will be in the lobby of the Campus Center from 3 p.m. to 10 p.m. in the John Finley Crowe Society area.

On Friday, Nov. 1, the altar display will continue from noon to 10 p.m. During this time, a Día de los Muertos documentary will be shown every hour in the same area. From 5 p.m. to 9 p.m., Día de los Muertos face paintings will be offered. From 7 p.m. to 10 p.m., the movie Coco will be shown in Classic Hall, Room 102.

The Hanover College Spanish Club will be hosting a series of events to celebrate Día de los Muertos, otherwise known as Day of the Dead. Events will begin Oct. 31 with an altar on display for students to honor their deceased loved ones. (Submitted photo)

On Saturday, Nov. 2, the altar display and documentary will continue from noon to 10 p.m. From 7 p.m. to 10 p.m., the movie Coco will be shown, again, in Classic Hall, Room 102.

Cruz said Prof. Rick Lostuter and the Arts Department, Prof. Lori Hedges, the Rev. Catherin Knott and Constance Pope, the associate director of multicultural affairs, have helped the Spanish Club and Spanish Department organize these events.

Sarah Bucker is a student at Hanover College.

Food, wine and healthy living at Hanover

Courier staff report

An energetic, fun conversation about food, wine and healthy living will open the Hanover Enrichment Series as television personality, model, chef and author Antoni Porowski visits Hanover College.

Porowski has worked as a food and wine connoisseur on "Queer Eye," recently released his cookbook "Antoni in the Kitchen," and works with his New York City restaurant, The Village Den. Inspired by chefs Julia Child, Jacques Pepin, Anthony Bourdain and his mother, Porowski has worked in restaurants from Montreal to New York City.

Porowski — and the members of the "Fab Five" — were listed among 2018's top entertainers of the year by "Entertainment Weekly." That year, he was also a finalist for the People's Choice Awards top reality star honor and winner of Eater's 2018 #Brand of the Year.

"An Evening with Queer Eye's Antoni Porowski," will be Friday, Nov. 8 at 7 p.m. in Collier Arena. The event will include a moderated conversation with Beatrice Marovich, assistant professor of theological studies, and will feature a cooking demonstration.

General admission tickets are $20 for adults and free for students of any age and from any school. General admission tickets are available now online at hanover.edu/arts

The Hanover Enrichment Series is presented by Tricia and Will Haggenah, with additional support from German American Bank.

PETS OF THE WEEK

BASANTI

Basanti is a 3-year-old female boxer mix. She is a beautiful girl but still a little scared. The shelter staff and volunteers are helping her realize the shelter isn't a scary place. She loves people, especially kids. The shelter thinks she has never been on a leash before since she will jerk and do flips while on a leash. She is looking for a home with a lot of patience and love as she will need training.

The Madison-Jefferson County Animal Shelter currently has 11 dogs or puppies, and 23 cats or kittens available. Pictures of additional pets waiting for adoption can be viewed at www.sisaveapet.com

Normal shelter hours are Monday, Thursday and Friday from noon to 5 p.m., Wednesday from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m., Saturday from noon to 4 p.m., and Sunday from noon to 3 p.m. It is closed Tuesday. The shelter number is (812) 273-1788 and the email is animal.shelter39@jefferson-county.in.gov

All cats and kittens are $45 off unless they are already spay or neutered. Discount is courtesy of the Animal Shelter and the Jefferson County Humane Society.

Volunteers are always welcome at the shelter. Individuals must be at least 16 years old to volunteer. Volunteers can help with everyday cleaning, answering phones, and exercising the pets. Contact the shelter for details.

The shelter is a registered organization with the Kroger Community Rewards program. To support the shelter, register a Kroger card at www.krogercommunityrewards.com and enter FL919.

Support the shelter while walking your dog. Use the "Walk for a Dog" or "Woof-Trax" app available through the App Store or Google Play. For each mile walked, a donation is made to the shelter.

A list of needed items can be found on the shelter website. Donations can be mailed to 2727 Hannah Drive, Madison, IN 47250 or dropped off during shelter hours. The shelter also accepts aluminum and steel cans, which are recycled and the proceeds put toward the medical fund. The shelter asks that aluminum and steel donations be separated. Steel cans should also be rinsed before they are dropped off. Cans can be dropped off at anytime in a bin located on the east side of the shelter.

Those with missing pets can stop by the shelter, call or email a complete description of the pet, when and where it was last seen, the owner's name and contact information, and a picture of the pet. Pets are held for three days before they are made available for adoption.

Animals should not be abandoned outside of the shelter or dropped off at the shelter after hours.

For animal control issues in Madison, call (812) 265-3347. For animal control issues in Hanover and Jefferson County, call (812) 265-2648.

DAX

Dax is an energetic 4- to 6-month-old male who enjoys running around and playing with his two shelter buddies. He likes to wrestle a lot and is a loving guy who will warm right up to anyone. He can be adopted with his brother, Chip. They are both perfect fur-babies who love to run and play with each other. They are great around dogs and like to make new friends.

DO YOU REMEMBER BETTER IF REPEATED?

An early Egyptian inscription, written circa 2000 B.C., claimed: "Would I had phrases that are not known, utterances that are strange, in new language that has not been used, free from repetition, not an utterance which has grown stale, which men of old have spoken."

But old men tend to need repetition because they do not remember as clearly as they did when younger. I hope you remember this key point about opening leads. Which card should West choose against three diamonds after the given auction?

Note the disciplined bidding. East has a perfectly respectable one-spade opening, but when West can offer only a single raise, East should not go higher, because he has no extra values or spade length. Follow the Law of Total Tricks -- only bid to the three-level with nine combined trumps or an interest in game.

West must lead the spade seven: high from a low tripleton after supporting partner.

If West does this, East stands a good chance of finding the right defense. He must win with the spade king and shift to the club king. (West should then signal enthusiastically with his nine to show the jack.) A moment later, when West gets in with the heart ace, a club continuation gives the defense five tricks: two spades, one heart and two clubs.

If West leads the spade three, East will assume his partner has an honor, which must be the jack. It would then be safe for East to start with two spade winners before switching to clubs. Here, though, that is fatal because South discards a club from the dummy on his spade jack.

Walk on the wary side when walking down a street or road

Annie Lane

Dear Annie: Both my wife and I are in our 80s, and we like to take walks together. Recently, we've noticed a safety issue that concerns us. As young children, we were always taught to walk facing traffic (i.e., the left side of the road). Older people, like us, seem to have learned this lesson well. But somewhere along the line, this simple safety tip got dropped.

What we see today are more and more young people and their families walking in the direction of traffic. Please tell your readers to be safe and walk facing traffic. — Two Walkers

Dear Two Walkers: Thank you for your observation. I will pass the tip on to my readers. And great job walking! Walking together as a couple is great for so many reasons. It helps you stay fit while growing closer to each other by having relaxed conversations in the open air.

Dear Readers: The following are some helpful tips to keep your children safe, courtesy of Safe Kids Worldwide.

Walking Tips:

1. Cross the street at corners, using traffic signals and crosswalks. Look left, right and left again when crossing and keep looking as you cross.

2. Put electronic devices down, keep your head up and walk — don't run — across the street.

3. Teach children to make eye contact with drivers before crossing in front of them.

4. Always walk on sidewalks or paths. If there are no sidewalks, walk facing traffic as far to the left as possible. Children should walk on direct routes with as few street crossings as possible.

5. Watch for cars that are turning or backing up. Teach children to never dart out into the street or cross between parked cars.

6. Join kids under age 12 for trick-or-treating. If kids are mature enough to be out without supervision, tell them to trick-or-treat in groups and stick to familiar, well-lit areas.

Costumes for a Safe Halloween

1. Decorate costumes and bags with reflective tape or stickers and choose light colors if possible.

2. Choose face paint and makeup instead of masks whenever you can, as masks can obstruct children's vision.

3. Have kids carry glow sticks or flashlights to help them see and be seen by drivers.

4. When selecting a costume, make sure it is the right size, so as to prevent trips and falls.

Drive Especially Safely on Halloween

1. Slow down and be extra alert in residential neighborhoods. Children are excited on Halloween and may move in unpredictable ways.

2. Take extra time to look for kids at intersections, on medians and on curbs.

3. Enter and exit driveways and alleys slowly and carefully.

4. Get rid of any distractions in your car — such as your phone — so you can concentrate on the road and your surroundings.

5. Turn your headlights on earlier in the day so you can spot children from greater distances.

6. Popular trick-or-treating hours are 5:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Be especially alert for kids during those hours.

Quick tip for the pets: Please keep your cats inside for Halloween and hide your candy from your dogs. Chocolate and raisins are poisonous to them.

Wishing everyone a happy and safe Halloween!
